May resume in March

BY MARY G. SEILEY
Work on four-laning Highway 603 may resume next month, despite a pending lawsuit by the contractor against highway department officials.

Bad weather and unavailability of materials have stalled the project recently, Southern District Highway Commissioner Ronnie Shows said Monday. Assuming the weather permits, he said, the construction should be back on track in March. Aside from bad weather, a statewide shortage of "flyash" has stalled completion of the roadbeds, the commissioner said.

Shows said it's uncertain at this point whether the contractor will complete the job or the construction will be taken over under terms of its bonding company. Meanwhile, lawyers for the state are asking for an additional month to answer allegations made in a recent breach of contract suit filed by the contractor, SCI Inc.

It is the second such delay sought by the state in responding to SCI's $3 million suit

Mental group home subject of meeting

BY MARY G. SEILEY
The Bay St. Louis Planning and Zoning Commission has set a special meeting for Wednesday concerning the newly-opened group mental health home on Dunbar Avenue.

The property at issue, 798 Dunbar Ave., is zoned for commercial use and previously housed a succession of doctor's offices.

Residents near the new facility have expressed fear over having the new mental health transition home for men operating in a residential area, near an elementary school and a nursing home.

But operators of the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center say their facility's residents are non-violent, posing no dangers in the area. Up to 10 adult males will be housed in the facility, learning how to assume the responsibility of living independent of supervision.

City officials say it's not clear how to fit such an operation into any of the zoning code's categories. The code has no provisions for group transitional homes. And the C-1 zoning category does not provide for medical facilities.

Officials say the previous medical facilities that operated in the structure were "grandfathered" as existing uses prior to the zoning.

During Wednesday night's meeting, the commission is expected to hear from Gulf Coast Mental Health Center officials concerning the functions of the home and from citizens who are interested in the matter.

In addition to clearing the air of rumors that sprang up when the facility opened, officials hope to resolve the zoning classification puzzle.

Aside from the zoning question, city officials haven't determined whether the group home requires a business license to operate. It has not obtained such a license, but may not be required to do so, because it operates as a non-profit center.

Wednesday's meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall Annex on Court Street.

Arbor Day

The Hancock County Soil and Water Conservation District and Mississippi Forestry Commission's annual Arbor Day tree give-away at the Hancock County Courthouse was a success. Among those handing out trees were, from left, Norma Ritch and Mark Jamieson, area forester. This week the agencies planted several trees at area schools, also as part of Arbor Day ceremonies. Sammy Soil and Smokey the Bear assisted with tree planting. (Echo staff photo by Ellis C. Cuevas)

Kiln compressor station proposed

BY MARY G. SEILEY
Koch-Gateway Pipeline Co. wants to build an 8,000-horsepower compressor station northwest of Kiln.

The plan calls for construction on a 33.4-acre tract the firm owns 1.5 miles outside town. The site is 1.4 miles west of the intersection of Mississippi highways 603 and 43.

Officials say the construction will allow the company to move an extra 169 million cubic feet of gas per day on its main line running from Lirette, La., to Mobile.

Officials of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission say if appropriate mitigating measures are taken, the facility won't significantly affect the quality of the environment.

Plans call for construction of three buildings, a 200-foot tall microwave tower, tanks, coolers and new pipelines.

Company officials say the new station will provide "greater flexibility and reliability" on its system serving the Mobile-Pensacola market.

In addition, the project will allow Koch Gateway to inject gas into the Tennessee Gas Pipeline Company's existing 30-inch-diameter pipeline at an existing interconnection.

As it stands, high pressure in Tennessee's pipeline prevents Koch Gateway from injecting gas into the pipeline at the Kiln

Foreign trade zone endorsed

BY MARY G. SEILEY
Hancock County officials agreed Monday to seek foreign trade zone status for Port Bienville and Stennis International Airports.

The Port and Harbor Commission also agreed to terms of a new lease with the airport's fixed base operator, Phillips Aviation, and approved increases in railroad tariffs at Port Bienville.

With an initial buy-in of $30,000, the commission hopes to add its properties to the Mississippi Gulf Coast Foreign Trade Zone No. 92, including Harrison County and, possibly, Jackson County.

Foreign trade zone status is attractive to businesses involved in international trade, because duties on materials shipped into such zones for manufacturing purposes are either eliminated or dramatically reduced.

Commission officials said Monday that putting Hancock County's port and airport facilities in the foreign trade zone won't reap any direct, immediate benefits to the county's coffers.

If the new status lures additional businesses to the county, however, the commission will see more revenues in wharfage, dockage and railroad fees, in addition to the fees it collects from airport users.

In addition, the commission said the move should increase the county's tax base, boost business investments and jobs, and increase the demand for servicing new industries and

Transportation bids sought by Bay-Waveland District

BY JIM BREWER
Bay-Waveland School Board members approved a motion to advertise for proposals for contract transportation. The recommendation to the board was made by Superintendent Paul Tisdale Monday night at the regular school board meeting.

Representatives from Laidlaw Transit Incorporated, who currently have a transportation contract with Gulfport schools, made a presentation to the school board. They claim over a five-year period their company could save the school district as much $800,000.

The savings would be realized in the last three years of the contract with the district actually spending more in transportation cost in the first two years.

In other action, Architect Kevin Fitzpatrick submitted plans to the board on the proposed six-classroom addition to Waveland Elementary School. The board approved the plans.

Also, the board approved a motion to advertise for bids on the new construction of six classrooms at North Bay Elementary. The combined cost estimate, according to Fitzpatrick, on both additions is $835,000.

The district will request a resolution for a short-term note in the amount of $1 million to cover the North Bay/Waveland projects. The state is expected to reimburse the district approximately $450,000 for the new construction.

On a recommendation by the superintendent the board approved the extension of the school year for some 7th and 8th graders. Students who are failing in math or English will have 20 additional school days to

ALONE IN SILENCE

I wander through a meadow, and I gaze up at a hill.
 The sky is like a pillow, and the countryside is still.
 It is a calm and peaceful scene beneath the morning sun,
 And yet without your loving smile, it is an empty one.
 The meadow has not changed at all, the hill is just the same,
 But when I call and echo forth, I do not hear your name.
 And when I touch the twilight of the evening or the dawn,
 I have to tell my heart at last that you are really gone.
 And I can only try to match the silence all around
 By weeping quietly beside a little plot of ground.

Bay depot becomes designated landmark

The Louisville and Nashville Railroad Depot in Bay St. Louis has been designated a Mississippi Landmark by the Permit Committee of the Board of Trustees of the Mississippi Department of Archives and History.

Built circa 1928, the former Louisville and Nashville Railroad Depot structure is one of the state's most vivid examples of the history-oriented eclectic architecture of the 1920s as applied to railroads.

Possibly Mississippi's only Spanish-style railroad building, the depot served as the gateway to Bay St. Louis during the "golden age" of passenger railroad travel.

The depot was listed on the National Register of Historic Places as a pivotal element in the Beach Boulevard Historic District in 1980.

Mississippi Landmark status is awarded to properties that have been reviewed and found architecturally, culturally, or historically significant to the development of Mississippi history.

While public buildings automatically fall under the jurisdiction of the Permit Committee, private property owners must request that their properties be considered for designation.

The property is then protected from alteration or destruction under the Antiquities Law of Mississippi.

The Mississippi Landmark program is administered by the Department of Archives and History.

expansions.

Commission executive director Hal Walters said the commission would recover its initial investment "many times over" in the years ahead.

Joining the zone is not a simple matter — Walters said the application process will take 12 to 15 months. If Hancock County is admitted to the zone, it will become a 20 percent owner of the existing zone's assets, some $109,000 the zone has collected from tenant fees in the zone.

Any fees the zone's administration charges tenants go into a pool to cover management and marketing expenses, officials said.

Hancock County would have three seats on the 15-member administrative board, the commission was told.

In other business Monday, the commission agreed to a three-year extension of its lease with Phillips Aviation.

The lease will be extended for two more years when Phillips completes an agreed-to remodeling of the building it leases for offices and a lounge area.

In addition, Phillips agreed to remove a fuel cabinet and fuel pump located on the general aviation ramp to a safer area, and to provide a fuel truck to service airplanes.

The new lease also requires Phillips to extend its hours of operation to 5 p.m.

Payments covered by the lease include a $1,458.33 monthly rent charge, plus a seven percent fee on gross sales on all commercial aviation activities, maintenance and rentals. The commission also will charge a seven-cent-per-gallon tax on fuel pumped by Phillips, up from the existing 5-cent fee now charged.

Commissioner Russell Elliott said the new lease was the subject of numerous meetings and negotiations, producing "the best possible" lease arrangement for the commission.

In other action, the commission boosted the tariffs it charges for usage of its rail facilities at Port Bienville. The new fees will be effective after 30 days' notice published in railroad regulations.

The commission set a special meeting for Feb. 21, to inspect what one commissioner said has become an "eyesore" at the county's shipping port.

Officials said the port's operator, Star Export, has been stacking cargo containers on county-owned land near the transit shed — about 75 of the containers were in place as of Monday, the commission was told.

Walters said Tuesday he planned to meet with Star Export officials soon and iron out a solution to the problem.

That solution may be for the commission to provide a new container storage area on the grounds that the firm already leases, he said, with the commission's costs of construction repaid over a period of several years.

In another matter, the commission agreed to advertise for bids to remove two abandoned barges, a tug and submerged crane at Port Bienville.

The state had been granted an extension, until Feb. 10, to respond to SCI's allegations. Instead, however, the state asked for about 30 more days to respond to the contractor's claims.

Under terms of a $7.9 million contract, SCI was to have four-laned Highway 603 from Highway 90 to Stennis International Airport. SCI contends the state breached the contract by not making sure that certain utility lines were relocated, or marked.

SCI contends that costly project delays weren't the company's fault, but left the contractor without compensation.

The parade many are waiting for will be Sunday, when the Krewe of Nereids parades down Highway 90 in the Waveland-Bay area.

Nereids has already had its ball, and the ladies are all getting ready for Sunday's parade.

I understand there will be litter barrels along the highway to be used by parade goers this year.

That is good, because maybe the Waveland and Bay St. Louis crews will not have so much litter to collect after the event.

I can't wait for Sunday's Nereids parade, what about you?

I hope to see you along the parade route Sunday.

It sure has been hard keeping tabs as what to wear each day.

It seems one day it is a short-sleeve shirt and the next you have to bring out the overcoat.

It has been a long time since we have had such dramatic changes in weather so frequently in our area.

I guess we can still talk about the weather, yet we cannot do anything about it.

Litter-Free ... AND PROUD TO BE!

A 'unique and grand moment'

U.S. Senator Trent Lott of Mississippi, Senate Majority Whip, delivers the principal address during the commissioning of the multipurpose amphibious assault ship USS Boxer (LHD-4) at Ingalls Shipbuilding division of Litton Industries in Pascagoula. More than 3,000 guests were on hand for the ceremony on the ship's hangar deck, during which LHD-4 joined the U.S. Pacific Fleet. Admiral Jeremy M. Boorda, USN, Chief of Naval Operations, placed the new ship in commission. Also on hand for the ceremony were General John J. Sheehan, USMC, Commander-in-Chief, U.S. Atlantic Command and Supreme Allied Commander, Atlantic; and Vice Admiral David B. Robinson, USN, Commander, Naval Surface Forces, U.S. Pacific Fleet. USS Boxer will sail from Pascagoula later this month and will be homeported in San Diego, Calif. (Ingalls Shipbuilding photo)

Reader commends Planning & Zoning Commission on stand

To the Editor:

I would like to express my support for Mr. Tommy Chapman and the Planning and Zoning Commission on their stand against allowing the Waffle House a 28-foot variance to our limit on sign heights.

The Waffle House creates its own "hardship" by refusing to advertise in local newspapers, magazines and other media available to them. Perhaps they need to change the way they do business.

In my travels across America, I've noticed that McDonald's Corporation has redesigned many of their buildings to conform aesthetically with the communities in which they are locating. Many of the new McDonalds don't even have the famous "golden arches" in the air.

Casino Magic, which has invested millions of dollars in Bay St. Louis, designed their sign to meet our current zoning requirements. Waffle House could find a way to do the same.

Resident supports Group Home on Dunbar Avenue

To the Editor:

It really upsets me when I hear about how some people view mental illness. I am referring to the outburst from Bay St. Louis residents about the opening of a Group Home on Dunbar Avenue by the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center.

If these were people with cancer or recovering from a heart attack, would they feel this way? Mental illness is a disease. These people did not ask to be mentally ill, just as people with diabetes did not want to become diabetic.

Instead of condemning the staff trying to help these individuals live on their own, we should be applauding and helping them for assisting the mentally ill person to live a somewhat normal daily life. What comes easy to us becomes a very difficult task for a mentally ill person.

We, as good Christians, need to open our heart to all of God's people, especially those who are less fortunate than ourselves.

Thank you,
Virginia Kenny

Beachfront residents have applied for permits

Dear Editor:

Regarding the beachfront and trees photos in The Sea Coast Echo Feb. 12, I would like to inform you that the private property owners are extremely concerned about the beach problem and have been seeking for a proper solution to this formidable problem.

We were well aware of the problem and had applied for permits some time prior to the city's anticipated project.

Our group wants to renourish the beach on a private basis. One thing we object to is the use of public taxpayer funds on private property.

Further, we consider the loss of land due to AVULSION (not erosion).

Our intention is to replenish the beach and shore up the trees, however, without permits we are unable to proceed.

During Hurricane Camille the sloping sand beach provided ample protection to Beach Boulevard, whereas there was considerable damage to the road where seawalls had been constructed.

It may be that some city, state and federal officials have stalled the private waterfront landowners' plans and permits.

Yours very truly,
Judith Homes

A weekly summary

Fire protection for rural areas, anti-crime proposals, teachers' salaries and a volunteer medical program aimed at helping needy citizens were among dozens of issues handled by the House of Representatives.

The House gave overwhelming approval to a bill that would authorize $8.2 million to assist counties in the purchase of fire trucks for rural areas. Municipalities also could qualify for assistance if they furnish fire protection for rural areas. A county or municipality would be eligible to receive up to $50,000 in state money, to be matched with local funds, for use solely in the purchase of fire trucks. The trucks would have to meet national standards.

The Department of Corrections would be authorized to contract with any county for construction and operation of prison facilities designed to house up to 250 state inmates under another bill winning House approval.

An amendment was adopted to require the Department to contract with Wilkinson County for a privately operated prison to handle 1,000 prisoners. Wilkinson County had been in the running last year for a 1,000-bed facility authorized in the special legislative session, but Marshall County was selected for the prison by the Prison Emergency Construction and Management Board.

The House voted to establish a volunteer medical program in an effort to help indigent and needy citizens around the state. The bill, patterned after similar laws in other states, would allow a special medical license for retired physicians who meet certain requirements and with to donate their services in treatment of the poor and people in medically under-served parts of the state.

The doctors would get no compensation but be immune from civil liability resulting from the medical service except when gross negligence or willful misconduct is involved.

In addition to the teacher salary bill, a number of education measures survived the deadline and now go to the Senate, including proposals for development of individualized educational programs for blind students, an incentive grants plan to recognize school districts for outstanding improvements in student performance, and revisions in education programs designed for deaf, aphasic and emotionally disturbed children.

A Facilities Management Board would be created under another measure to work with the Bureau of Buildings, Grounds and Property Management in regard to long-range planning on public building projects. The bill, based on recommendations by an interim study committee, also would require pre-planning on public construction projects costing $1 million or more, and make various other changes in existing public building laws.

House-passed bills also would allow the Public Service Commission to approve gas and electricity contracts that utilities make with certain large customers; provide for licensing and regulation of auctioneers; exempt property in Mississippi from seizure for alleged failure to pay out-of-state taxes on retirement benefits;

Amend oil and gas laws to revise procedures in applying for integration of interests from the Oil and Gas Board; permit the sale or purchase of deer sinew; provide that legal actions by an insurance company against its agent must be brought in the agent's home county, not the state where the company is domiciled;

Revise requirements to show proof of residency to buy a resident hunting license, including a current Mississippi driver's license; homestead exemption receipt, or other means determined by the state wildlife agency;

Permit county supervisors to contract with constables to collect delinquent criminal fines imposed by Justice Court judges; reenact a state law on requirements for individual wastewater disposal systems, with a few modifications;

Make it unlawful for motor vehicles to use alternating flashing headlights, except for emergency vehicles responding to an emergency; restructure the Mississippi Water Resources Management Planning Council;

Grant limited protection

Canada comes to Stennis Space Center via satellite

The Gulf Coast Chapter of the Hydrographic Society of America hosted a satellite link to the Canadian Hydrographic Symposium 1995 on Feb. 15. The symposium subject was "Where is Technology Taking Hydrography?"

The Commander Naval Meteorology and Oceanography Command (CNMOC) and the Naval Oceanographic Office (NAVOCEANO) provided the link and a conference room to gather attendees. NAVOCEANO holds the highest proportion of the Gulf Coast Chapter members.

Numerous employees are associated with hydrography, the investigation and charting of oceans, rivers and other bodies of water.

Because of the high level of involvement within the hydrographic field, NAVOCEANO intends to educate people from Stennis Space Center and from the Coast through the televised symposium.

Each attendee gained a valuable insight into hydrography with the discussions of 12 speakers. Topics ranged from the roots of hydrography to the modern technological advances currently breaking ground. Lunch and a discussion period offered time for networking with employees from other agencies.

Stars of the Coast chapter include: president, Maria Kalcic (Naval Research Laboratory); vice president, LCDR Richard Labone (NAVOCEANO); secretary, LCDR Nancy Crews (CNMOC); and treasurer, Larry Gronmeyer (NAVOCEANO).

Their efforts were crucial in solidifying the link and organizing the conference guests.

Cruise ship to use Port of Gulfport

Odessa America Cruise Company — The Cruise Line of the Ozars — has selected Gulfport as its major home port for a total of 48 cruises to Central America and Mexico beginning October 29. The cruise line will now call the Port of Gulfport home for ten months out of the year.

"The selection of Gulfport as a home port by Odessa America further demonstrates the State Port's efforts to provide economic development activities along the Mississippi Gulf Coast," said Anthony Taormina, executive director of the Port of Gulfport. "We look forward to a long and successful partnership with Odessa America."

Having Odessa America utilize the state port is a major milestone and will provide a significant economic impact for the city of Gulfport. While using the Port of Gulfport as its home port, the cruise company will purchase fuel and supplies locally. In all, the cruise ship is expected to infuse approximately $64 million into the local economy.

Odessa America will begin its relationship with Gulfport on April 24 when the M/V Gruziya embarks from the state port on several sailings during a spring cruise period. There will be a variety of cruises, including six seven-day cruises to Central America and Mexico, a four-day cruise to Progreso, Mexico and a weekend party cruise. The last cruise departure is June 11 when the M/V Gruziya departs on a 13-night repositioning cruise to its summer home in Montreal, Canada.

The 400-passenger vessel will then return to Gulfport in October for an eight-month schedule of cruises which include two-night Gulf Weekend Party cruises; five-night Yucatan cruises to Playa del Carmen, Cozumel and Progreso, Mexico; and seven-night "World of the Mayas" cruises to Honduras, Belize and Mexico.

"Our initial bookings for the spring cruise are doing very well," said George Koch, vice president of marketing for Odessa America. "This factor coupled with Gulfport's centralized location and unique tourist attractions made it a perfect place for a major home port," Koch said.

Interconnect.

Some four acres of the Koch tract are used for the existing Kiln Interconnect, metering facilities and the rights-of-way for two interstate pipelines.

Officials say Koch would need another 12.8 acres of the site to build the new facility, including 7.23 acres for the compressor station yard.

In its assessment, FERC staffers said the project would not affect any federally listed threatened or endangered species, Native American sites, or historic properties.

The staff did recommend, however, that Koch file a plan to follow if human remains are discovered during construction, or if unanticipated historic properties are found.

Land use and aesthetic impacts associated with the new station include converting 11.9 acres of land to industrial use, putting a new above-ground gas compression facility within 1,020 feet of a residence; and building the 200-foot-tall microwave tower.

The construction won't have a significant impact on rural residential areas, since the nearest home is some 1,020 feet away from the above-ground facilities, the staff said.

Increased traffic and noise during construction may create "a temporary annoyance" to area landowners, the staff said.

The new facility may create a "visual impact" on the residential area, but Koch plans to leave much of the surrounding vegetation intact and plant a group of red cedar trees for additional screening.

The new microwave tower can't be screened, and will be visible, even at night, officials said.

FERC officials want Koch to conduct additional noise surveys once the operation begins, to make sure plans to lessen noise from the compressor station are effective.

Comments on the proposal must be received no later than March 15, for consideration by FERC. Comments should be sent to Steve Grape, Environmental Project Manager, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, N.E., Washington, D.C., 20426.

For Joe & Kathleen Monti, growing and expanding their business on the Coast has been an enlightening experience.

"We started banking with The Peoples Bank in 1987. We were looking for an alternative source for our banking — someone who was close, and someone who provided the services we needed when we needed them."

"They helped us with the expansion of our business... through credit lines during our growth period... and with cash flow. They've accommodated us financially when we needed the help."

"The people at The Peoples Bank are super, and they're there whenever we need them. They know us, they know our business. They're willing to ask questions about our business, to help us."

"When we were ready to expand, the first thing we did was call Peoples. They sat down with us, looked at our situation and looked at our plan. They said, 'Go ahead.' They are very open with their customers and were ready to help us expand to meet the growing needs on the Coast. There are a lot of things going on down here and businesses that are already here need to expand and improve... need to meet the challenge. And Peoples is ready to help us."

THOUGHTS TO SHARE

Every worthwhile accomplishment, big or little, has its stages of drudgery and triumph; a beginning, a struggle, and a victory.

A few wise friends with whom to counsel, a few good books to read and absorb, and with courage and faith we are well equipped for the facing of life's difficulties and disappointments, as well as its pleasures and successes.

Lives are made of chapters, and after one is written it cannot be revised, but we can write a new chapter with each new day.

Wishing you beautiful "new days."

History in the making

Casey Ver Berkmoes gathers acorns from underneath the massive live oak tree known as Friendship Oak on the University of Southern Mississippi-Gulf Park campus in Long Beach. Ver Berkmoes, a computer science instructor, has grown numerous seedlings from acorns produced by the 500-plus-year-old tree since he joined the USM-Gulf Coast faculty in 1985. After gathering the acorns, he nurtures them at his home until they are ready for planting. Ver Berkmoes and other USM-Gulf Coast officials celebrated Arbor Day Friday, Feb. 10 by planting seedlings from the tree, which has seen the history of the Mississippi Gulf Coast unfold. The oldest seedling to be planted is from the 1990 acorn crop. Two dozen smaller seedlings from the fall of 1992 crop also will be planted on the campus. (USM Public Relations photo)

Stennis supercomputing technology displayed in Jackson today

Supercomputing power in Mississippi will be among the state's many technological advances displayed today as part of "Stennis Space Center Day" in Jackson.

The exhibition, "Stennis Space Center; World-Class Science and Technology," will showcase many of the high-tech programs being conducted daily by 23 federal, state, academic and private organizations at the center in Hancock County.

Governor Kirk Fordice will open the exhibition in the first floor Rotunda of the Mississippi Capitol at 9 a.m.

Significant among the new technology is the Naval Meteorology and Oceanography Command's $50 million Cray C90 supercomputing system, which became operational at the Naval Oceanographic Office (NAVOCEANO) on Jan. 16.

With over one billion words of main memory, the system manufactured by Cray Research Inc., is the most powerful supercomputer in the U.S. Navy.

The Naval Oceanographic

Office is the largest component of the worldwide Naval Meteorology and Oceanography Command. The command, headed by Rear Admiral Paul G. Gaffney II is headquartered at Stennis Space Center.

Another large-memory Cray C90 was installed last year at the Army Corps of Engineers Waterways Experiment Station in Vicksburg. These two systems are among only seven large memory Cray C90s in the world.

Representatives from the Navy at Stennis and the Army at Vicksburg will operate workstations at the Capitol to demonstrate their systems' supercomputing procedures and products, including real-time wave forecasting.

The Navy will also demonstrate its 3-D bathymetry products and discuss its ocean survey shipbuilding program in Mississippi.

Coast Community Concert

A hot time in the old town is on tap for Community Concertgoers Thursday, Feb. 16 at the Biloxi High School Auditorium when the Riverboat Ragtime Revue comes to the Coast. Curtains are at 7:30 p.m.

The rollicking-billed revue, which has been sold out the past four years on the tour circuit, concludes the local concert affiliates' programming year.

Singing, dancing and comic routines and the entire company in turn-of-the-century-period costumes headline the 1890s riverboat show featuring four vocalists and a Dixieland band, led by master banjoist Debbie Schreyer, former band leader at Atlantic City's Showboat Casino.

One of the singers, Phil Gold, is a tenor with the doo-wap group, The Shades, and is the voice of Wendel in the upcoming feature, Friends are Forever. Another, Ronn Jones, has an impressive list of credits on stage and in TV and theatre movies. He is considered one of the best jazz dancers in America.

President Herb Carnathan reminds the public next season's membership drive, currently underway, closes March 10. For details call membership chair Margaret McDougal at 432-8656.

OLA bows to St. John; out of tourney play

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The Our Lady Academy Crescent basketball team lost in the first round of the Division 8 Class 2A tournament to the St. John Lady Eagles on Tuesday, February 14, by the score of 70-54.

The winless Crescents battled hard with a Lady Eagles team that has dominated the Coast in girls hoop action this year. The Lady Eagles jumped out to a 23-17 first period lead; however, the Crescents battled back in the second period to make the halftime score 38-31.

OLA was outscored in the second half 32-23, and that proved to be the clincher for the Lady Eagles as they were able to hold on to the momentum.

Ebony Midcalf scored 17 points and pulled down 15 boards to lead the Lady Eagles. Eleanor Ramos added 16 points and 7 assists for St. John. Ellen Underwood contributed 14 points, while Caron Acosta sank 9 points.

Heidi Cappie led all scorers and OLA with 34 points off 3 three-pointers. Jessica Keller added 9 points in the loss for OLA.

St. John improved to 23-6 on the season and will advance to the second round of the tournament today.

The Crescents end their first season basketball at 0-23, but with marked improvement over the season.

Father Theriault, Fairconnetue honored by Krewe of Real People

Special to the Echo
During the 1995 Krewe of Real People coronation ball Saturday, Feb. 18 at 9 p.m. at the Hancock County Civic Center, two individuals will be honored by the krewe.

For the past several years the Krewe of Real People has selected a person in the community who has been very active in the betterment of his or her community.

This year the Krewe of Real People has selected Father Armand Francis Xavier Theriault, SVD, for his honor.

The Rev. Armand Francis Xavier Theriault, SVD, or simply Father "T" was born Jan. 21, 1928 in Cambridge, Mass. He was baptized Feb. 5, 1928 and named Armand Francis. He attended Catholic schools from kindergarten until graduation from eighth grade in June 1942.

On Sept. 8 of the same year he began his journey to the priesthood as a religious missionary with the High School Seminary in Duxbury, Mass. High school was followed by two years novitiate and two more years of college.

In July of 1950, he chose to come to St. Augustine Seminary in Bay St. Louis, the first class to integrate the seminary. This began his love affair with Bay St. Louis.

He was ordained a priest on June 24, 1955 at the seminary and completed his studies in June of 1956.

During his last year as a student priest, Father Bowman asked him to help at St. Rose, especially with the youth, which prepared him for his first assignment as assistant pastor of St. Rose.

He coached basketball with the help of Wilbur Dorsey and William Tate. He also began a semi-pro basketball team and baseball team.

He even tried to begin a high school football team with Harry Farve, Bennie Harris and Charles Joseph, among others. He has been known to have taught a few people how to swim and fight in the water at Sunny Bank.

When Father Joe Steir had a heart attack, Father T was sent to Yazoo City to continue teaching, coaching and was jailed for being too friendly with the black youths and for getting a haircut in the "black barber shop."

After five years in Yazoo, Father T went to St. Louis, Mo. where he ran a youth center and a skating rink in an inner city parish.

He returned to Bay St. Louis where he was to be vocation director for two years and assistant to Father Bowman, who had become Provincial.

In 1966 he went to St. Augustine Church in New Orleans for 10 years.

He came back to Bay St. Louis and the vocation office and assisted at St. Rose under Father Aubie and Father Keller.

In 1979 Father T became the rector of the seminary. During that time he employed Wesley Labat as foreman, with Derek Smith, Brian Labat, Emile Hazeur Jr. and later Gilbert Labat and Darin Hazeur.

During these years from 1967 through 1979 he was appointed vice-provincial under Fathers Bowman, Francis and Steib. Also during these same years Father T became active in the NAACP on the board in New Orleans, vice president in Hancock County.

He represented Mayor Larry Bennett on the Gulf Coast Community Action Agency Inc., rising to chairman of the board.

When in 1985 his second term as rector of the seminary was completed he was transferred to Delcambre, where he pastored two churches.

After seven years he returned to Bay St. Louis and became pastor of St. Rose de Lima Church. He is at present in this third year of a six-year term.

Besides the seminary, Father T has attended Springhill College, the University of Mississippi and St. Louis University.

At present Father Theriault is on the board of Bay Catholic Elementary School, the Hancock County Youth Task Force of Save Our Children.

He is vice president of the NAACP Hancock County Branch and a member of the board of Gulf Coast Community Action Agency Inc. as representative of Mayor Favre.

Father T was invited into the Knights of Peter Claver by Raphael Favre in 1958/59 and raised to the fourth degree in 1974.

While in Delcambre he became a Knight of Columbus and is also a fourth degree Knight of Columbus.

He is the assistant to the District Superior of the New Orleans Province of the Society of the Divine Word.

Father Theriault proclaims to anyone who wants to listen that he began his priestly ministry at St. Rose in 1955 and will end it here when he retires in 1998, at which time he will be 70 years of age.

The Krewe of Real People will also introduce the grand marshal for this year's Mardi Gras parade, Nathaniel Fairconnetue.

Nat Fairconnetue is the son of Albert and Ethel Fairconnetue. He was born in Bay St. Louis and is a lifelong resident of Bay St. Louis.

Fairconnetue, a 1970 graduate of Bay High School, was an all-star player for the 1970 and 1971 Pearl River Community College Wildcats.

He played on the 1970 State Championship team at Pearl River. He was inducted into the Pearl River Community College

Hall of Fame in 1993.

After Pearl River, Fairconnetue attended Delta State University, where he became the college's first 1,000-yard rusher. He was voted as one of the Outstanding College Athletes of America in 1974. That same year, he received his bachelor's degree in education at Delta State University.

He began his coaching career at North Natchez High School in 1974, and he remained there until 1978 when he became assistant football coach and head track coach at Picayune High School.

In 1988, Fairconnetue became Picayune High School's head football coach and one of the first black athletic directors in the state of Mississippi.

In 1991, Fairconnetue received his master's in education administration at William Carey College. He's been an assistant principal at Harrison Central High School since July, 1992.

Fairconnetue is a member of St. Rose de Lima Parish and is actively involved in many church affairs. He's currently the vice president of the St. Rose Parish Council.

He's also a member of the Hancock County Branch of the NAACP. He received a Distinguished Service Award in the field of education from the Hancock County Branch in 1990.

Fairconnetue frequently serves as a master of ceremony, commentator, guest speaker or judge at different events in and around the Hancock County area.

Fairconnetue is a member of the Red Machine softball team. He also serves as an umpire in softball and referee in basketball for the entire Gulf Coast.

Fairconnetue and his wife Paula have been married for 20 years and they have three children, Natalie, 17; Nadia, 16; and Nat Jr., 10.

Diamondhead Boaters hold coronation ball

"Castles" was the evening's theme as the Boaters Association held its coronation ball Saturday, Jan. 21 at the Diamondhead Country Club.

The ballroom was turned into a castle with graceful turrets and flags from the past royalty.

Pictures of past royalty were displayed on one wall. Black knights were standing at attention. A gold shield with plumes decorated each table. The bandstand was draped with gold lame, as were the thrones for the king and queen.

Commodore Tim Holt greeted all guests and recognized Land King Ali'i Honua XX Henry Kibler and his Queen Lou Lamendola.

Master of ceremonies Mike Doherty thanked the decorating committee, which consisted of chairman Barbara Doherty, Rusty and Bob Cobb, Mary and Jim Gressett, Gladys McCook, Mary Lou Freeman, Bill and Tony Cumming, Tom and Jan Venator, Mary Ann Tapley, with special thanks to Bernice Turner.

Past royalty was introduced to the audience. The official song of carnival, "If Ever I Cease to Love," was played while past King Akua Kai XIX Bob Wood and the 1994 Queen Gloria Gasper made a regal entrance.

To the music of "Pomp and Circumstance," the new king and queen-elect promenaded to the royal thrones. Tributes to the royal thrones. Tributes to the new king and queen were made by Commodore Tim Holt who presented engraved silver goblets, and Vice Commodore Kathy Wood presented the royal colors.

Reigning over the Mardi Gras season will be King Akua Kai XXI Harold Turner, and his Queen Terri Downie. The king wore a black tuxedo.

The queen wore a deep purple off-the-shoulder gown. The stand-up ruffle framing the shoulders was accented by appliques of purple iridescent sequins and beads throughout the fitted bodice. The skirt was fitted with a fish tail hemline.

Serving as lady-in-waiting to the queen was Mrs. Warren (Gail) Chellino. The maids were Mrs. Ed (Ruth) Moran, Mrs. (Gail) Chellino, Mrs. (Pat) Morgan, Mrs. Carl (Shirley) Schaffer, Mrs. Harvey (Jean) Comfort and Mrs. Fred (Wanda) Engelke.

REFLECTIONS ON LIFE

By Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

Riding in the lead car of a funeral, I observed a man approaching on foot from the right side. Haggard, worn and rail-thin, he had the appearance of someone wasted by alcoholism or some dread combination of physical illnesses.

When he spied us, his eyes started wide open and he lurched forward toward us, attempting to thread either before or behind us.

"Why is he doing that?" I asked, puzzled.

"He is superstitious," the driver answered quickly. "He does not want the hearse to pass in front of him."

"Bid deal!" I thought. At the rate he was weaving between vehicles in the terrible shape he was in, recklessly risking life and limb, he was only hastening the day when some hearse would indeed claim him.

"His attention is on the wrong thing," I reflected. "Instead of being superstitious about sheer foolishness, he needs to direct his mind and his energies toward getting rid of whatever is making a walking corpse of his body."

With a visible sigh and a look of tragic triumph, he appeared to enjoy some morbid relief as he dragged himself along, coasting a backward glance at the passing hearse which posed such a threat to his peace of mind.

No doubt, it would not require the fancied forces of superstition to destroy such a piteous body which shuffled along in torturous fashion. His neglect or abuse of his body was already taking care of that with chilling efficiency.

Amazingly, irrational superstition drives an incredible number of people to blind highs of mindless dedication and trust. Otherwise intelligent people frequently show how dumb and unreasoning they can be when it comes to superstition.

Perhaps simplest of all is the horoscope which is taken at various levels of seriousness by sundry people, many with tongue in cheek. The only alarming thing here is that many people actually believe the double-speak, ambiguous drivel.

The signs of the zodiac, positions of the planets and stars, tea leaves, tarot cards, special mojos, assorted bones, crystal balls and human palms — all powerless to effect anything — are believed to reveal everything.

Those are tools of the so-called readers/psychics who claim to see the future or the hidden present. Judging from the frenzied zeal of devotees, fortune-telling must not just predict but actually cause success in love or money matters.

For some practitioners of superstitious arts, more insidious objects such as goober dust, black candles, love potions, evil spell potions, chicken entrails, the blood of certain animals and voodoo dolls are used.

"Cross your fingers," and a tentative, cliff-hanger type of situation which you want to hold steady or change in your favor will likely break your way. Skip sidewalk lines, touch fences and pickets, and you will ward off misfortune.

"Don't walk under a ladder," and you will avoid bad luck. Well, there's a practical side. If nothing else, you will preclude having a gallon of paint land on your head.

"Don't open an umbrella in the house," and "Don't break a mirror," and you will stay the unlucky hand of fate.

All these things show a lack of faith in the transcendent power of God which alone can bring about good things in us.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire Caire

Truly a "Renaissance in Good Eating" as its subtitle proudly proclaims, is the latest cookbook to come across my desk. Its 568 pages are crammed with great foodways and ideas, as well as with unexpected flavor combinations of ingredients and many unusual recipes.

And, there's a marvelous bonus! Forty top professional chefs from all across America have contributed gourmet recipes with their own special flair and creative cooking ways. The remaining recipes were contributed by employees of the Arizona Heart Institute Foundation in Phoenix, Ariz., after all, the full title of the cookbook is The Arizona Heart Institute Cookbook — A Renaissance in Good Eating.

All these wonderful food ideas, and heart-healthy as well! The recipes (I've tried a number of them already and am still busy trying more) stress the true flavor of "real" food replete with the use of fresh regional foods and flavor ingredients.

Just think of it, meals which delight the palate, truly adventures in good eating, all the while helping the heart to tick away healthfully instead of closing those arteries! As the old saying goes, "Who could ask for anything more?"

Who, indeed? The premise of the book is that a healthful diet needn't be boring or unpalatable, but that it should appeal to the palate and accents the fact that fine cuisine and good health can and should be compatible.

Naturally seasoned fresh ingredients are the basis for the recipes. True flavors of real food come through, because fat, salt and artificial ingredients are downplayed.

Creative seasonings with herbs and spices enhance the flavor of foods, and in the words of the editor, "reawaken palates long accustomed to salt and butter."

Sauces and relishes and salsas give flair to many of the dishes, such as pineapple salsa and black bean relish.

There are a number of grilled dishes. Among dishes which I liked especially is a grilled salmon — creation from Vincent Guerthault, chef owner of Vincent Guerthault on Cambelback in Phoenix. He also serves on the board of directors of the Foundation. Here's his tasty:

GRILLED SALMON WITH JALAPENO HONEY GLAZE
2 tps. chopped Jalapeno pepper
3 oz. honey
2 lb. fresh salmon
Black pepper to taste

Combine chopped jalapeno pepper and honey; set aside. Cut salmon into 6 portions (5 oz. each). Season with pepper, to your taste. Spray a medium-hot grill with non-fat cooking spray.

Grill for approximately 4 minutes per side, or until firm in the center. Brush one side with the pepper-honey glaze during the last 2 minutes of cooking. (6 servings)

I liked this combination so well that I tried it again, substituting trout for the salmon, with good results.

And, for closer to home cooking, there's a superb crawfish dish created by Jamie Shannon, executive chef at Commander's Palace Restaurant in New Orleans' Garden District. Here's:

LOUISIANA CRAWFISH WITH STIR-FRIED VEGETABLES
(For 1 serving:)

4 oz. crawfish tails, meat only
1/2 oz. turnip, julienned (about 2 Tbsp.)

1/2 oz. carrot, julienned (about 2 Tbsp.)

1/2 oz. red bell pepper, julienned (about 2 Tbsp.)

1/2 oz. snow peas, julienned (about 2 Tbsp.)

2 oz. crawfish juice or fish stock

1/2 green onion, chopped
Cayenne pepper to taste
4 whole crawfish, boiled

Heat skillet over medium heat. Sauté crawfish tails in cooking spray for approximately one minute. Add all the julienned vegetables and saute for an additional 45 seconds. Add crawfish juice or fish stock and cook until reduced by half. Add green onions and season to taste with cayenne pepper. Serve with whole crawfish.

The Arizona Heart Institute Foundation can be reached at 2632 N. 20th St., P. O. Box 10,000, Phoenix, Ariz. 85064. Proceeds from the cookbook support the foundation's continuing education and research projects.

NEREIDS

Nereids parade features Frolich posters and cups

Special to the Echo

On Sunday, Feb. 19 at 1 p.m. the Nereids parade will roll for the 29th year. The parade follows a route from Choctaw Plaza at the intersection of Highways 603 and 90. Traveling east to the Bay St. Louis line, it returns to Waveland via Hwy. 90 to Our Shopping Center at Waveland Avenue. Over 100 units are scheduled to participate with the Nereids floats.

This year's parade theme, "New York, New York," is illustrated by well-known Florida artist, Danny Frolich, in the always-popular posters and cups, which will be featured throws.

Frolich, a free-lance illustrator, has been producing Mardi Gras designs for 25 years—from floats to porcelains to soaps.

At one time he was doing three major parades in New Orleans. His loyalty to the Mardi Gras krewes is exemplified by his determination not to increase prices to them because, as he puts it, "The people have been so good to me."

Frolich went on to say that he realized how much the krewe members spend of their own money for the entertainment of the community.

A 1967 graduate of Chalmette High School and a student of art at UNO, Frolich maintained a studio and gallery in New Orleans for many years.

During this period he did illustration work for Bacchus for 12 years, Endymion for 15 years, and Rex for 10 years.

Fifteen years ago, along with a cup manufacturer, he innovated the off-set printing style used to this day on Mardi Gras cups. "I'm probably in everybody's kitchen cabinet," he added.

After closing his New Orleans gallery, along with Tori Goodwin, Frolich moved to Santa Rosa, Fla. to concentrate on his commissioned work.

From this location, he feels he can be accessible, but not limited to a particular area. Frolich has received numerous awards for his work and has been referred to as one of the most famous artists in Louisiana.

His diversified work ranges from science fiction magazine and book covers to illustrations for the Navy Department and for clients in the oil industry.

After the Mardi Gras season, spring break in the Florida Panhandle keeps him busy as an artist designing for the busy tourist industry there.

Frolich has worked across the country from Houston to Idaho. With Elizabeth Henderson he has a party-planning business, The Emerald Coast Connection. They've worked for the Hilton and Sandestin Beach Resort, for example, and have done work in Panama City and Perdido.

Frolich's work for Nereids began a number of years ago when the krewe captain had him design the Nereids cups. She knew him by reputation and has used his designs every year since then, hiring him five years ago to do the posters as well.

In describing Nereids, Frolich considers it a first-class krewe, one which keeps traditional Mardi Gras practices alive.

He remarked recently to a krewe member that he has worked with many krewe captains, but at Nereids he felt he had met the captain of captains.

Both these remarkable talents will be evidenced in the Nereids parade and its throws on Sunday in its salute to New York, New York.

FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

It's time to go fishin' y'all. The unsettled weather has caused the fishing to become cold.

This is not the case with fishing issues in the State Legislature. They have become red hot. The Legislature has taken matters into its own hands on the gill net issue. Senate Bill 2591 has just been adopted by the Senate.

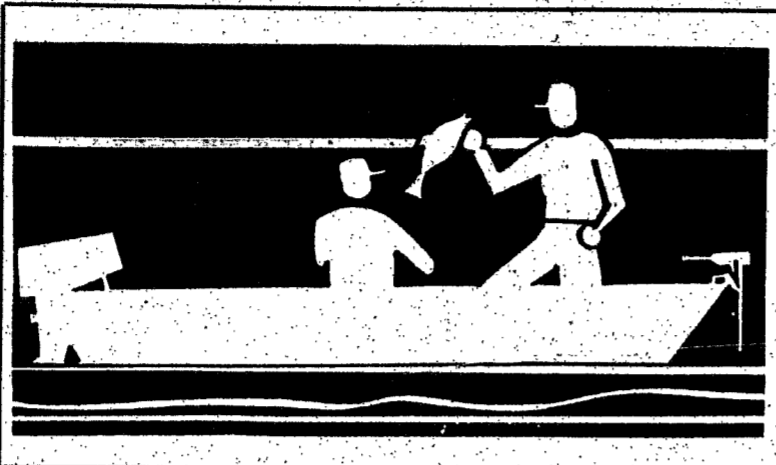

The bill has a provision to prohibit all commercial fishing in marine waters north of Hwy. 90, except oysters, a provision to prohibit the placement of gill or trammel nets above Hwy. 90 with severe penalties for violations.

The first violation of this provision will cost the violator $5,000 and forfeiture of vessel, motor and equipment used in the violation.

Subsequent violations will merit fines up to $10,000 and forfeiture of vessel, motor and equipment. The penalties for a violation cannot be suspended or reduced.

Additionally, the bill states it is unlawful to use gill nets or purse seines for taking of seafood within one mile of the shoreline of Hancock, Harrison and Jackson counties or within one mile of the shoreline of the Barrier Islands.

To give the roe mullet at least a small chance to lay some eggs, another section of the Senate Bill will make it unlawful to take roe mullet in the first half of the roe-mullet season.

There are some other provisions of the bill which were added by Senator Brad Lott, which I am told are the result of some of the controversies created by gill netters.

One of the additional provisions will limit the issuance of new commercial licenses to no more than five licenses per year. Another provision will add an additional fee of $100 to all commercial fishing licenses.

Additionally, all commercial fishermen must register with the tax commission, and their catch must be sold to a commercial seafood dealer who must report the sale to the Tax Commission.

It will be unlawful for sports fishermen to sell their catch. If they sell their catch they will be subject to criminal penalties.

S.B. 2591 passed the Senate and will now go to a House Conference Committee for further action.

Cold fish, hot topic me that the tides were a "little" low. He said there was only one fisherman who went out and came back with fish. Matter of fact, there was only one fisherman who went out, period.

Anyway, the lone fisherman came in with a few nice drum fish caught somewhere around the railroad bridge over the Pearl River.

For those folks who have a hankering to use live bait to fish, LaFrance has live caca-hoes on hand.

This week's wonderful wise words: 'Tis time to do maintenance work on your stuff.

Does the Legislature get cold feet on hot issues, Turtle?

Meanwhile, back on the fishing scene, I was only able to find two fishing reports this past week. The first one was from Ralph at Chuck's Bait in the Gulfport Small Craft Harbor. The first words out of Ralph's mouth were, "Stay home."

He only knew of two people who caught anything at all. One person caught a nice red fish off the light house pier right by the rock pile. The second person caught four specks right by the Copa Casino boat dragging a white grub.

The next report was from Toxie at LaFrance Fish Camp in Ansley. Toxie told me somebody cut his water off. Being a typical slow Turtle I asked him how badly the pipes froze. He explained that the pipes did not freeze, but that somebody cut the water off in the bayou because his boats were high and dry on the mud.

I think he was trying to tell

3-2 in the final game.

PRCC placed third in the 1994 NJCAA Region 23 National Tournament and had an overall record of 33-25. Nightengale has won 180 games and lost 136 in seven years. This year he returns 12 sophomores and has 10 freshmen on the squad.

Area players on the squad are John Bishop of Bay St. Louis, Adam Breerwood of Waveland, Kevin Jacobi of Waveland, and Bryce Gex of Bay St. Louis. All four players are graduates of St. Stanislaus in Bay St. Louis.

Adam Breerwood is returning at first base for the Wildcats. John Bishop will be playing right field. Kevin Jacobi will be playing the catcher position. Bryce Gex will be used as the utility man and the runner.

Brad Wiggins is the trainer for the Wildcats, and Danny Strong is a manager for the team. Both Wiggins and Strong are from Bay St. Louis.

Tigers rally back and outscore Yellow Jackets 23-14 in the final stanza.

Dustin Polk led the Yellow Jackets with 15 points in the win. Julius Hilliard added 14 points, while Matt Noblitt contributed 10 points.

The Tigers were led by Lydell Haynes with 19 points. Robby Lumpkin added 10 points in the loss.

With the loss, the Tigers drop out of contention for the title with a 2-29 record while the Yellow Jackets move on with a 21-6 record.

Registration for girls softball is Saturday, Feb. 18 from noon to 4 p.m. at Mississippi Power in Bay St. Louis.

East Central jumped out to a 36-20 halftime lead. However, Hancock came back strong behind Craig Ahlers' 29 points to make the second half interesting. The Hawks cut the lead, but the Hornets' momentum was just too much to overcome.

Jon Parker led all scorers and the Hornets with 36 points. Rudolph Riley added 10 points in the win. Craig Ahlers led the Hawks with 29 points. Jerod Breaux added 10 points in the loss.

With the loss, the Hawks drop to 5-19 and out of the tournament. The Hornets move on with a 22-8 record.

In other action on February 13, the Bay High Tigers were spanked by the St. Martin Yellow Jackets 73-57.

The Yellow Jackets jumped out to a 21-8 lead in the first period and extended that lead to 36-22 at halftime.

Rocks scalped by Warriors 75-58

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
The St. Stanislaus Rock-chaw basketball team ended the season with a loss to the 25-4 Choctaw Central Warriors of Philadelphia, Miss. on February 11. The Warriors are a perennial 2A power.

The junior varsity defeated the Warriors 75-64, while the varsity fell victim to the Warriors 75-58.

In JV action, the Rocks jumped out to a 19-10 lead in the first period and extended the lead to 37-26 by halftime. The margin at halftime proved to be the margin of victory for the game as the Warriors came back and matched the Rocks point for point in the second half.

Coach Jerry Spell commented, "Tonight the boys played hard. Roth and Gex were effective from the perimeter, while Williams and Kopfer were tough in the paint and on the boards. We finished the year at 17-5 with a 12-2 district record. We opened with Brother Martin, which wasn't a good team to open with; however, we bounced back. We were narrowly defeated by Biloxi and Gulfport. Our only division losses came to St. Martin. All in all, it was a good year. We are 35-9 in the last two years for junior varsity."

Matt Kopfer led the JV Rocks with 29 points. Matt Roth added 18 points, while Correy Gex contributed 14 points in the win. Clay Williams poured in 8 points for the Rocks.

In varsity action, the Rocks held a 33-31 lead at the half and seemed to come apart in the third period. The Rocks were outscored 20-6 in the third period which proved to be the seal of the Rocks fate.

Coach Jay Ladner stated, "We had poor shooting in the third period coupled with Choctaw Central shooting effective shots in the third. We couldn't throw the ball into the Gulf standing on the pier. However, I have been pleased with the varsity and junior varsity performances this year. Coach Spell did an excellent job again this year with the JV. I am looking forward to getting those guys next year. The varsity had a 20-11 regular season record. We have done well this year, and now its time to get ready for the tournament."

Vince Moran led the Rocks with 17 points. Brandon Benoit added 15 points, while Terry Lawyer canned 10 points.

MGCCC students inducted into Phi Theta Kappa

A total of 87 high-achieving students at Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College's three campuses — Perkinston, Jefferson Davis and Jackson County — have been inducted into Phi Theta Kappa, the international society for community, technical and junior colleges.

The students, who are among the top 10 percent at MGCCC, posting an approximate average of 3.5 or above, were recognized for their academic accomplishments and involvement in college and community activities.

Founded in 1918, Phi Theta Kappa is an international organization composed of 1,100 chapters at colleges in the United States and Canada. Phi Theta Kappa's international headquarters is located in Jackson.

The honor society seeks to foster the development of leadership and service, to provide an intellectual climate for the exchange of ideas, and to encourage the establishment of scholarships for advanced education. Approximately 48,000 new members are inducted each year.

Phi Theta Kappa is recognized by the American Association of Community Colleges as the official honor society for two-year colleges.

Local students inducted include:

Perkinston campus: Lauren Jane Barnes of Diamondhead; Jefferson Davis campus: David Lawrence Hutchinson; Justine Annette Johnson, Dori Richele Garziano and Charlotte L. Alusp, all of Pass Christian; Brandy Lynne Wilcox and Tina Sue Taylor, both of Waveland; and Mary Margaret Hernandez, Salesha Ann Kosbab and Brad Joseph Besse, all of Bay St. Louis.

Small Business Procurement Opportunities Fair set at Coliseum

The annual Mississippi Small Business Procurement Opportunities Fair will be March 6-7 at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum and Convention Center in Biloxi.

Military and civilian agencies plus large federal prime contractors seeking ways to expand their suppliers list for goods and services will be gathered in one location to provide individual counseling to small businesses interested in pursuing contract opportunities with the federal, state and local government.

Attendees will have the opportunity to network with other small business owners and to meet with numerous major buying agents during the fair — a feat which would ordinarily take an individual over a year, plus considerable expense to accomplish.

Seminars will be presented on the afternoon of March 6 to allow both exhibitors and attendees to hear the latest on "How to do Business with the Federal Government" and "Electronic Data Interchange/Electronic Commerce."

A full day on March 7 will include an exhibit area with more than 150 exhibitors and seminars on "Women-owned Businesses," "Federal and State Resources," "Minority Business Programs" and "Technology Transfer."

Registration fees, which include refreshments, lunch, all seminars and entry into the exhibit area are $50 for attendees, $50 for government exhibitors and $100 for commercial exhibit space.

For information and/or registration, contact the Mississippi Contract Procurement Center/Gulfport (601) 864-2961, SBA Jackson District Office (601) 965-4378 or the SBA Gulfport Branch Office (601) 863-4449.

Government contract seminar offered

A seminar designed to help people learn how to do business with the government is set Feb. 22 at the Coast Business Technology Center.

The seminar, "Doing Business with the Federal Government: Construction Contracts," will be held from 8:30-10:30 a.m. at the center. There is no fee for the seminar.

Ed Covacevich of the Mississippi Contract Procurement Center will teach the seminar.

For information or to register, call 601-392-9741.

Select garden flowers based on area tests

By Dr. Milo Burnham
Horticulturist
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

Flower enthusiasts would like to try every newly developed variety in their gardens, but time, space and physical limitations make this desire unrealistic. Gardeners don't need to conduct experiments when they can benefit from the knowledge gained at a trial garden in their general geographic area.

In mid-1994, the Alabama Agricultural Experiment Station published the 1993 Annual Trial Garden Results of 230 varieties of annual plants grown at the E.V. Smith Research Center in Shorter, Ala., 15 miles east of Montgomery.

Transplants were set out on May 21 and grown in full sun and irrigated and fertilized throughout the summer. Before considering the trial results, remember that the summer weather of 1993 was very different from that of the summer of 1994 and really put the plants to a test. Temperatures in 1993 were generally above average and rainfall below average.

Sixteen different flowering plants were evaluated, with all but 37 of the 230 varieties being petunias. There were 11 different varieties of vinca, but only one variety of salvia, marigold and geranium and three varieties of zinnias.

Entries were evaluated on a scale of 1 to 5 every two weeks from June 16 through Sept. 20. The numerical ratings of eight plants of each entry were averaged and plotted on a graph during the 16-week evaluation period. Flowering plants were rated primarily on their floral display.

A quick survey on the graphed rating values of the entries shows a sharp decline in performance for most entries around the middle of August. Non-petunia entries that maintained a near 5 rating during this period, demonstrating good late season performance, were melampodium Showstar, verbena Imagination and all of the vincas, especially vincas Blush, Grape and Peppermint Cooler and Tropicana Blush. Imagination verbena, the 1993 All America Selection outperformed the varieties Peaches and Cream, Sandy White and Novalis Deep Blue.

The petunias were evaluated throughout the growing season. As is customarily done, plants were cut back to a length of about 6 inches in late July (mid-season) to encourage a second flush of growth and bloom. The multiflora petunias generally outperformed the grandifloras in most color categories.

Purples, whites, blues, lilacs and stars did not perform as well as the reds. None of the doubles performed well enough to be selected as top performers. Flash Velvet, a purple grandiflora, was later than other varieties in reaching peak color but was rated as good.

After cutting back the petunia plants, numerical ratings dropped significantly as expected. While many of the entries showed some recovery by having an increase in numerical rating values, the values did not achieve the prior to cutting level when the study concluded on Sept. 20.

The best performing multiflora petunias by color were:

Red — Madness Burgundy, Horizon Ruby and Madness Red; rose — Primetime Rose; salmon — Celebrity Salmon and Primetime Salmon; pink — Celebrity Hot Pink and Primetime Pink; purple — Madness Plum Crazy; lilac — Madness Orchid and Madness Sugar; blue — Celebrity Sky Blue; white — Madness White Improved; star — Polo Burgundy Star and mix — Merlin Pico-tee Mix.

Many of these varieties should be in the bedding plant trade and available at local garden centers and nurseries in the spring.

(This article is based on Circular 312, 1993 Annual Trial Garden Results and the Alabama Agricultural Experiment Station, Auburn University.)

Four gardening courses will be offered during March by the Division of Continuing Education at the University of Southern Mississippi-Gulf Coast.

Courses will help would-be gardeners get started, and provide additional tips and advice for those already cultivating a green thumb.

The course will be taught at USM-Gulf Coast's Gulf Park campus in Long Beach.

Courses include:
— Selecting Landscape Plants will be taught March 8 from 10 a.m. to noon. This course helps participants learn the principles for selecting the right plants for a landscaping project.

— Annual and Perennials for Gardening Color is set for March 15 from 10 a.m. to noon. This course helps participants learn which plants and flowers give the colors desired in a garden.

— Native plants of the Coast will be taught March 22 from 10 a.m. to noon. In this class, students will learn about plants indigenous to the Gulf Coast and how to use them in a garden setting.

— Gardening in Small Spaces is set for March 29 from 10 a.m. to noon. This class teaches how to make the most of the space available when building a garden.

Cost of each course is $15. Those interested in taking all four courses will receive a $10 discount.

For information or registration, call 865-4508 (Gulf Park) or 497-5135 (Jackson County).

Many factors contribute to abnormal elimination

By Dr. Wynn Jones
Veterinarian
MSU College of Veterinary Medicine

"My 7-year-old male cat had successful surgery two years ago to straighten out his urinary tract. However, he has begun to lick himself frequently and urinate on rugs within our home."

"Our veterinarian put him on antibiotics, and he seemed to be better. Shortly after, he completed the medicine, he began the behavior again."

"We do not want to punish him for behavior caused by illness, but it seems he often is being belligerent. We also have a female cat we had before we got him, so he does not have new competition. How can we correct this problem?"

Dr. Phillip Nelson, associate dean at MSU's College of Veterinary Medicine, offered the following advice for your problem.

You are experiencing the most common behavioral problem cited by feline owners — abnormal elimination. This problem has many causes, and the greatest difficulty is determining which factors are involved.

Many owners identify the wrong cat as the culprit, so make sure the male cat is the problem. Determine whether your cat is urinating or marking territory (spraying). A cat that is spraying often marks vertical surfaces, such as walls or sides of couches.

If your cat is spraying, the behavior should gradually decrease since he was castrated as part of his operation.

However, if it does not disappear after six months, ask your veterinarian about hormone therapy.

Your cat's medical history suggests improper soiling may be the problem. A number of possibilities could be the cause.

Your letter suggested he may have responded well to antibiotics. Recurrent urinary tract infections are a possibility.

He also may be experiencing pain from urethral irritation caused by the substance that originally blocked the urinary tract. Your veterinarian might consider prescribing antibiotics for a longer period of time or give your cat smooth muscle relaxants or anti-anxiety tranquilizers.

Inappropriate urination often occurs when a cat is emotionally distressed. Cats seem to associate pain with location. The pain caused by the original problem now may be associated with the litter box.

If your cat does not have his own litter box, get him one. Even if he does, the female cat may have used it while he was away, and he now resents using it.

To solve the problem, your cat's behavior must be changed. Get him a new litter box and confine him to an isolated location until the correct habits have been reestablished. Then gradually move the litter box to a new permanent location.

Tomato or cranberry juices or vinegar on food or in water have been successful in some cases of abnormal elimination.

Also have your veterinarian check for chronic constipation, which results in painful elimination. If this is a problem, the veterinarian can treat it by prescribing a change in diet or stool softeners.

Other behavioral modification techniques include using a water pistol, remote controlled plant sprayer, noise or throwing an object at the cat when the behavior occurs. These techniques require careful observation, perfect timing and persistence.

Cats often use the same spot. Try removing the rug or moving the food and water bowl to or near the same location.

If none of these solutions work, you may have to make your male cat an outdoor cat.

If you have questions concerning a pet's health, contact Dr. Wynn Jones, MSU/CVM, Box 9825, Mississippi State, MS 39762.
